Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on December 01, 2005 has been entered.

Amendment received on December 01, 2005 has been acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 25, 33-39, 41-43 and 67 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nahan et al. (6,343,273).

Nahan discloses a method in a computing system (via an interactive marketing and transactional system) for notifying a notified customer (such as a listing dealer) about a purchase made by a purchasing customer (such as a buying dealer) with the steps of: detecting that the purchasing customer has purchased an item has purchased an item for a person other than the notified customer (via dealer placing a buy order for a customer), determining that the notified customer has a purchase notification relationship with the purchasing customer (via member dealers communicating with each other), and providing to the notified customer a notification that the purchasing customer has purchased the item, the notification identifying the purchasing customer (col. 13, line 23 – col. 14, line 21).

Nahan further discloses establishing for the notified customer a purchase notification relationship with the purchasing customer in response to an instruction from the purchasing customer (via shipping instruction; col. 13, lines 28-34). Further, the establishing for the notified customer a purchase notification relationship with the purchasing customer in response to an instruction from the notified customer (via wire transfer instructions by the listing dealer such as name and address of bank to receive funds) and in response to authorization from the purchasing customer with respect to the item (via login on the system as a member dealer).

Further, Nahan discloses a control for obtaining additional information about the product and a control for purchasing the product (via checking other members inventory), and a indication that the purchasing customer owns the item (col. 14, lines 10-13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 26-32, and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable Nathan et al. (6,343,273 B1), in view of Ewing (202/0095298 A1).

Nathan et al. also discloses displaying a visual indication of the purchase item (via a red dot maker on the monitor) but fails to explicitly disclose the common and well-known variation of sending messages via instant message, pager message and voice mail message.

Ewing discloses the concept of having member interacting with other members over the internet using text, audio or voice chat; instant messaging; or, e-mail, and the member desires to send the other member a gift.

From this teaching of Ewing, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modify the Nathan et al. interactive transactional system to include the different ways of sending notification message to another party as taught by Ewing in order to engage in real time conversation.
